THE GOLDEN RULE

Should Be Observed by Employers and Employees When Disputes Arise.

Labor Has Its Sacred Rights and Dignity Says Cardinal Gibbons.

Many Blessings Would Result if Arbitration Became General.

ENCOURAGES THE TRADE UNIONS

His Eminence Cardinal Gibbons contributes to the New York Journal an able paper giving his views upon how labor and capital can become reconciled, and it should be carefully perused by our readers. From it we take the following extracts and his advice to the toilers:

Labor has its sacred rights as well as its dignity. Paramount among the rights of the laboring classes is their privilege to organize or to form themselves into societies for their mutual protection and benefit. It is in accordance with natural right that those who have one common interest should unite together for its promotion. Another potent reason for the encouragement of labor unions that suggests itself to his mind is that secret societies, lurking in dark places and plotting the overthrow of existing governments, have been the bane of Continental Europe. That "the laborer is worthy of his hire" is the teaching of Christ as well as the dictate of reason itself. He is entitled to a fair and just compensation for his services. He deserves something more, and that is kind and considerate treatment. Urging loyalty to employers' interests and deprecating features of the boycott, the distinguished prelate concludes with the following:

It would be a vast stride in the interests of peace and of the laboring classes if the policy of arbitration, which is now gaining favor for the settlement of international quarrels, were also availed for the adjustment of disputes between capital and labor. Many blessings would result from the adoption of this method, for while strikes, as the name implies, are aggressive and destructive, arbitration is conciliatory and constructive. The result in the former case is determined by the weight of the purse, in the latter by the weight of argument.

And now permit me to address to you, hardy sons of toil, a few words of friendly exhortation solely inspired by a sincere affection for you, and an earnest desire for your temporal and spiritual welfare.

First—Cultivate a spirit of industry, without which all the appliances of organized labor are unavailing. Activity is the law of all intellectual and animal life. The more you live in conformity with that law, the happier you will be. An active life, like the purring rivulet, is an unfailing source of gladness, health and contentment, while an indolent life, like the stagnant pool, breeds discontent, disease and death. No man enjoys with a keener relish the night's repose and the Sunday holiday rest than the son of toil. A life of patient industry is sure to be blessed with a competence, if it is not crowned with an abundant remuneration. The great majority of our leading men of wealth are indebted for their fortunes to their own untiring industry. Take an active, personal, conscientious interest in the business of your employer; be as much concerned about its prosperity as if it were your own. And are not your employer's affairs in a measure yours? For your wages come from the profits of the concern, and the more you contribute to its success, the better he can afford to compensate you for your services. He will be impelled by an enlightened self-interest, as well as by a sense of justice, to requite you for your services with a generous hand.

Second—Foster habits of economy and self-denial. No matter how modest your income may be, always live under it. You will thus protect your liberty and business integrity, and guard yourself against the slavery and humiliation of debt, which is too often the precursor and the incentive to commercial dishonor. Most of the alleged wants of mankind are purely artificial, and contribute little or nothing to the sum of human happiness. Rather do they add to the sum of human misery; for what are our earthly desires but so many links in our chain of bondage?

Third—While honestly striving to better your condition, be content with your station in life, and do not yield to an inordinate desire of abandoning your present occupation for what is popularly regarded as a more attractive avocation. Remember that while the learned professions are overcrowded, there is always a demand for skilled and unskilled labor, and that it is far better to succeed in mechanical or manual work than to fail in professional life. Be not over eager to amass wealth, for they who are anxious "to become rich fall into temptations and into the snares of the devil, and into many unprofitable and hurtful desires which drown men in destruction and perdition." A feverish ambition to accumulate a fortune, which may be called our national distemper, is incompatible with peace of mind. Moderate means with a contented spirit are preferable to millions without it. If poverty has its inconveniences and miseries, wealth has often greater ones. A small income is suggestive of abstemious habits, and abstemious habits are conducive to health, while wealth is a powerful incentive to excessive indulgence, which is the fruitful source of complicated diseases. A poor peasant who was roaming one morning through his landlord's demesne in the hope of catching some game to appease his hunger was suddenly confronted by its owner, and asked what induced him to be out so early. "And pray, what brings you out so early?" interposed the peasant. "I am trying to find an appetite for my breakfast," replied his lordship. "And I," added the peasant, "am hunting to find a breakfast for my appetite." Of these two men the pampered landlord was perhaps the greater sufferer; a long and severe regimen would be necessary to restore his health, while a hearty meal would suffice to relieve the pain of the peasant.

Fourth—Sobriety will be an angel of tranquillity and comfort to yourself and family. While this virtue should be especially cherished by the laboring class, who are so much exposed to the opposite vice. Intemperance has brought more desolation to homes than famine or the sword, and is a more unrelenting tyrant than the grasping monopolist.

Fifth—Above all, let religion be the queen of your household. It will be a sacred bond uniting all the members in the ties of domestic love. It will be the guardian of peace and contentment; it will season the bread of labor. "Not by bread alone doth man live, but by every word that proceedeth from the mouth of God." It will be to you an unfailing source of wealth, for "godliness with sufficiency is great gain." "It is profitable to all things, having the promise of the life that now is, and of that which is to come." When the evening of life has come, and your earthly labors are drawing to a close, it will cheer you with bright prospects of an eternal Sabbath.

LIFE'S JOURNEY ENDED.

Death Claims Mrs. Martin Dugan While Peacefully Sleeping.

It was with the deepest sorrow that the news of the death of Mrs. Ann Dugan, wife of Officer Martin Dugan, was heard Thursday morning, having been found dead in her bed about 6 o'clock by her husband upon his return from his night's duty. Her death came without any warning and was a great shock to her family and friends. Always a devout and practical Catholic, she participated in the Rosary devotions at the Dominican church the preceding evening, appearing in good spirits and excellent health.

When Officer Dugan returned home there was no response to his cheery salutation, and upon approaching her bedside he was rendered almost insensible by the discovery that her soul had taken its flight while she peacefully slept. She never presented a more calm and resigned appearance, her arms being folded across her breast with her beads in her hands. In her death the Dominican parish loses one of its exemplary members and Limerick a good woman of the old school, whom many who are now grown men will long remember for her generous deeds and good advice when they were boys.

Mrs. Dugan was a native of Queens county, Ireland, but came to this country with her parents when a child. Before the war she was married to Martin Dugan, who for the past thirty years has been connected with the Louisville police force. Besides her husband she leaves two sons and one daughter to mourn her loss, and they have the deepest sympathy of the entire community in their hour of sorrow. They are Frank Dugan, of Tenth and Broadway, Martin J. Dugan, of the printing firm of Smith & Dugan, and Miss Agnes Dugan, of St. Louis, who arrived here yesterday morning.

Her funeral takes place this morning from the Dominican church with high mass of requiem, and will be one of the largest witnessed there for many a day. A beautiful and well spent life thus ends, and with all who had the good fortune to know her we join in saying, "May her soul rest in peace."

YOUNG LADIES' DANCE.

The Young Ladies' Auxiliary of Trinity Council have issued invitations for a reception and dance, to be given at Fountain Ferry on Tuesday evening, November 19. The committee in charge is composed of the following well known and popular young lady members: Mrs. Thomas O'Brien, Chairman; Miss Lillie Ackerman, Louise Stark, Lula Schwaninger, Alice Ellard, Fannie Riley, Mayme Burke, Josephine Hoertz, Nettie Holtman, Rose Gathof, Mayme Weber, Lula Stey, Anna Daley and Anna McElliot.

They will spare no pains to make this eclipse their former social events, which have been many and successful.

JOHN MCCORMICK'S MISFORTUNE.

John McCormick, of this city, who was run over by an engine in the Russellville round house of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, is now resting easy and will recover. His injuries were so serious that both legs had to be amputated just above the ankle. John's misfortune came as a great shock to his many friends here and he has their heartfelt sympathy in his trouble.

Chairman of the Clergymen's Executive Committee for the Orphans' Bazar.

CONFIDENT.

Democrats Certain That Grainger Will Win by 7,000 Majority.

Republicans Withdraw Charges About Alleged Illegal Registration.

Those Who Were Out of the City May Register Next Week.

NOW CONSIDERED A ONE-SIDED FIGHT

The municipal campaign is devoid of interest because everything seems to be one way. It is conceded that Charles F. Grainger will be elected and that he will carry with him every nominee on the ticket. The ticket, aside from Mr. Grainger, is an exceptionally strong one, and the Democratic nominee for Mayor is trying to impress this upon his political friends. His aim has been to secure support not only for himself, but for the entire ticket and he has succeeded admirably.

There is no disaffection anywhere. Brown, Democrats, Goebel Democrats, Gold and Silver Democrats are united. Beside this there are thousands of old-line Republicans dissatisfied with the Sapp management, who will vote for Grainger and most of his associates. It looks like Grainger would have about 7,000 majority if the full Democratic registered vote is brought out. All now depends on bringing out the vote, and the organization in the future will be directed to this end.

The Republicans confessed their weakness in the County Court on Tuesday by withdrawing all the challenges against alleged illegal voters. Secretary Newman, of Sapp's Committee, claimed to be able to summon 7,000 illegal voters, but when it came to a show down he was unable to challenge 300.

The situation is so favorable for the Democrats that bets are now freely offered that the whole ticket will be elected by at least 3,500 for the lowest candidate on the ticket.

Those who were out of the city or were sick on October 1, 2, or 3 can register next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Court House.

HAPPY UNION.

A fashionable wedding at St. Louis Bertrand's church next week will have for its bride Miss Margaret Finegan, the handsome and amiable daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Finegan, of Ninth and Kentucky streets. The bridegroom will be Peter Jennings, a successful young contractor of Memphis, Tenn., who formerly resided near Shelbyville and is well known in this city. The ceremony, which is eagerly anticipated by Miss Finegan's many admiring friends, will be performed next Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, the Rev. Father Fowler officiating. A reception will follow at the home of the bride's parents, after which the happy pair will leave on an extended honeymoon trip, making their home in Memphis. Miss Finegan is one of our most lovable and popular young women, and her departure from this city is the only cause of regret to her very wide circle of friends and acquaintances, who all wish the couple a long life of happiness and prosperity.

ANNIVERSARY.

Bacon's Great Store Beautifully Decorated in Honor of the Event.

J. Bacon & Sons are now celebrating the fifty-sixth anniversary of the opening of their great dry goods store. Their new and handsome house on Market street, between Third and Fourth, has been beautifully decorated for the occasion and throngs of visitors are being entertained daily. The decorations are typical of and in keeping with the fall season, and everywhere are found exquisitely arranged the autumn leaves and colors. Deers and foxes, elk's heads and antlers, are mounted in every convenient spot and carry out the idea of the fall hunt, while the pillars, balcony railings and stairs are covered with many colored leaves. The decorations are novel and the most beautiful ever seen here, and our lady readers should not miss them. This enterprising firm has also placed on display the largest and finest stock of fall goods ever brought to Louisville, and the novelty has attracted large crowds daily.

ANOTHER FOR GRAINGER.

Officer Lee Mullen, one of the most efficient men in the local police department, has been in exceedingly good humor this week, the cause thereof being the arrival of another young Democrat at his home on Seventeenth street last Sunday evening. The little fellow's attendants say his first yell was given for Grainger for Mayor, and this act has made him a popular baby in that neighborhood.

GLAD NEWS.

The many friends and acquaintances of Peter McFarland will welcome the news that he has almost entirely recovered from a very severe attack of erysipelas, that has confined him to the residence of his son-in-law, Val Lester, 721 East Walnut, for several weeks. For many years he was quite active in Irish-American affairs, but owing to advanced age and the loss of his eyesight he has not been so prominent as formerly. Mr. McFarland is a native of Ireland and a veteran of the late war, who distinguished himself for bravery on the Confederate side.

WELCOME.

John Redmond, Patrick A. McHugh and Thomas O'Donnell Sail For America.

Were Given a Royal Send-Off by the Irish Nationalists of Cork.

Sons of the Emerald Isle Again United Against English Government.

PURPOSE OF THEIR MISSION HERE

The men of good old rebel Cork gave the delegates of the Irish party to this country, Messrs. John Redmond, Patrick A. McHugh and Thomas O'Donnell, a hearty send-off Thursday before their departure for Queenstown, from where they sailed for the United States. A large and representative number of all the Nationalist organizations in the city took part in the demonstration of welcome tendered the Irish Nationalists upon their arrival, and the patriotic trio who are now crossing the Atlantic to plead the cause of Ireland received a heartfelt God-speed from the citizens of Cork that was indeed cheering.

The press dispatches state that John Redmond, M. P., in the course of the general reply which he made to the numerous addresses presented to him and his colleagues, laid particular stress on his contention that his mission to America could be taken as a proof that the reunion which had occurred in Ireland had also occurred in the United States, and that England hereafter will have to fight the world-wide Irish race of 20,000,000, "whose action is limited to one consideration—namely, that all means were honorable and just in the sight of God, and who preferred to be linked to the meanest free country on earth than to the British Empire." He also said that his mission was to show England that she would have to count hereafter on a united Irish race backed by the public opinion and the support and sympathy of 20,000,000 of free people in the American republic.

Among a variety of addresses and communications which Redmond received were telegrams from different parts of England, denouncing him as a traitor. The scene at the Cork railway station immediately prior to the departure for Queenstown was one of extraordinary enthusiasm. A large crowd with bands swept down the barriers erected to exclude the public from the platforms, planted flaming tar barrels in front of the saloon carriage in which Mr. Redmond was seated and played "God Save Ireland" and "The Star Spangled Banner." In an address from the platform of the car, Mr. Redmond referred to the attacks which the London Globe had to apologize for last session at the bar of Parliament, characterizing these as "scurrilous attacks upon the Irish party." "And now, boiling with rage," he exclaimed, "this paper is grossly insulting our brethren in America and asserting that we are going to the United States to get subscriptions from American murder clubs. This shows the blind, unreasoning hatred and opinion held by representatives of the British Government, notwithstanding the fact that through the long list of officials and public men in America from the Presidency down there have been representatives of our race."

Patrick A. McHugh, member of Parliament for the north division of Leitrim, who was sentenced to six months' imprisonment as a first-class misdemeanant for publishing in his paper, the Sligo Champion, articles denouncing jury packing, was released from Kilmahnam jail Monday. He was accorded an enthusiastic reception by a large crowd of people, who repeatedly cheered him and eagerly rushed forward to shake hands with him.

The Lord Mayor of Dublin, Sir Thomas D. Pile, a numerous deputation from Sligo, John O'Dowd, member for South Sligo, John O'Donnell, member for South Mayo, were among those who welcomed him to liberty. Mr. McHugh drove in the Lord Mayor's carriage, followed by a long procession of carriages, to a hotel, where a luncheon was given in his honor.

The distinguished visitors will appear in all the large cities during their stay in the United States.

CAN'T BE BEAT.

Splendid Entertainment Witnessed by Large Crowd Monday Night.

Hibernian Hall was crowded to the doors Monday night by members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and their friends, who came as invited guests to witness the first literary and social session of the season under the auspices of Division 3. To President John Cavanaugh and Tom Quinn, who contributed to the success of the affair and worked unselfishly to make it complete and enjoyable, too much praise can not be accorded. The opening address was made by Patrick J. Welsh, the popular Deputy Assessor, who acquitted himself to the satisfaction of his friends in the order.

Piano solos were rendered by Misses Allie Roesche and Mamie Mackey. Miss Julia Kelly, the talented young pianist, contributed a pleasing vocal solo, as did also Miss Elizabeth Rogers, both responding to hearty accolades. Others who took prominent part in the exercises were Masters John Richter, William Brady and Oscar Roberts, Joseph Lenihan, Michael McGuire, Will and Edwin Sabrie, Sylvester Grove, Harry Golden and John Green, the latter making the greatest hit of the evening, his nearest competitor being Master Brady, whose selection convulsed the audience.

The entertainment as a whole is the best ever given by the division, which has done much toward bringing out young people possessed of very good talent.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS.

Last Sunday a council of the Knights of Columbus was instituted at Chattanooga, Tenn., and another step forward has been made by this grand organization in the South. There were sixty candidates for admission, with large numbers of visitors from Nashville, Columbus and other cities, Louisville being represented by Dr. Charles G. Lucas, George E. Mulligan, Charles J. O'Connor, F. L. Reeder, M. J. Bannon and C. A. Curtin.

Father Tobin welcomed the Knights and visitors at a special mass in a feeling manner, and Right Rev. Bishop Byrne delivered the principal address at the banquet in the evening, congratulating the Knights upon their grand work and bidding them God-speed in their efforts to stir in many souls a spirit of living faith and in spreading abroad an atmosphere of peace and good will.

Bishop Ludden, of Syracuse, has also given the Knights of Columbus the stamp of his approval, having just before his departure for Ireland named the chaplain for the Syracuse Council. The initiation of a large number of new members will take place here next month, when many prominent citizens will be admitted. Nearly all the principal cities of the country will send large delegations, as the Louisville council has a national reputation.

UNION COUNTY.

Rev. Father Jenkins, the zealous pastor of the Catholic church at New Hope, who has been spending a month in Canada, arrived home last Saturday from St. Louis, where he attended the Eucharistic Congress.

St. Vincent's parochial school at New Hope is reported in a flourishing condition, having an average daily attendance of about 150 pupils.

Bernard Dawson's numerous friends are elated over his second promotion by the Southern railway, having been appointed chief clerk at Princeton.

HALLOWE'EN.

Next Thursday will be Halloween and young folks are arranging numerous parties therefor. This will also be the closing night of the orphans' bazar at Liederkranz Hall, and here the ladies will doubtless work many of the charms incident to the occasion.

LIGHT AND BEAUTY

Prevail at the Grand Bazaar Now in Progress for the Orphans.

Ladies in Charge Are Courteous and Kindness Without Exception.

The Many Pretty Booths and Handsome Articles Displayed Therein.

EXCELLENT DINNERS SERVED DAILY

In a blaze of light and beauty the orphans' bazar opened Monday night at Liederkranz Hall, Sixth and Walnut streets. A fairly good crowd attended and exclamations of delight and pleasure greeted the ladies in charge of the different booths. Every one seemed in good humor, and so far there has been no other mood manifested by the increasing numbers that appear nightly. There have been many bazars here during the few years, but for variety of articles, beautiful objects this is pre-eminently the most completely stocked of all. Ladies in charge of the various tables in the dining-room are courteous and kind, and without a single exception the writer was kindly aided in every manner, the younger girls vying with their elders to give credit and praise to the many contributions to the tables and booths.

The Cathedral booth, under the care of Mrs. Smith, Miss Walsh and the Misses Finn, has a gorgeous array of beautiful things. In the center of these is Madonna and child, an oil painting of Miss Florence Byrne, a really fine piece of work for an amateur; two little girls in water color, the work of Miss N. Smith, and a box of art goods from Nazareth, containing among other things three exquisite gold pillows, valued at $25, the work of the Sisters. In the latter the color of the dress is shaded, the work being embroidered in silk. Other fine exhibits are the portrait of St. John the Evangelist, a steel engraving of the Holy Family, presented by Mrs. Chris O'Connor. An excellent photo picture of the good and zealous Father Rock, who has from the start by word and work done his best to aid the bazar along, also occupies here a conspicuous place. A pair of dainty and solid gold bracelets, made after the fashion of forty years ago, each with a locket inserted into the circle, is the gift of Mr. Joe Chase, and is one of the finest of all the handsome things given to the fair. To the Cathedral booth also has been donated a dinner set of Hawarden china by Mr. Jerry Bacon, whose munificence is always apparent on occasions such as this.

The Dominican booth is in charge of Mrs. Blanche Shelly, aided by Mrs. Denunzio, Mrs. Mattingly, Miss Joseph O'Neill and other entertaining ladies. While their table has many handsome articles on it, they have not so much as to be seen on other tables, for the reason that they have made their specialty to be the refreshments that are to be found down stairs in the basement. Mrs. K. Newman and Miss Josephine Mattingly have been assiduous in their efforts to work for the Dominican table. A handsome pillow from Mrs. Denunzio and a chair from Mrs. Daniel P. White are among the attractive articles to be found there.

The churches of St. Mary Magdalen, St. Paul, St. Philip Neri and Holy Name, sometimes termed the "Big Four," have one of the best booths. A fine upright piano, the gift of Montenegro & Rich to Rev. Father York and St. Paul's, is found here, also a grand Jefferson couch from Schupp & Schmidt, a leather Ottoman couch from Keisker's, a solid mahogany chair presented by the ever popular Billy Semonin, and a large box from Brooklyn consisting of embroidered and drawn linen table covers, etc., a fine cabinet mantel from the Voss Mantel Company, and the exquisite taste shown by Miss Mary Goss in ornamenting the booth with morning glory vines makes this corner of the bazar very attractive. Miss Goss deserves particular mention among the ladies who are doing good work by their accommodating spirit.

St. Patrick's, handsomely decorated in green and white, is another place wherein one delights to linger. Here Mrs. Nic Holloran, always ready to serve for sweet charity's sake, is assisted by Mrs. Tom Keenan, Mrs. Walker and Mrs. John Riley. A net lace surplice made and presented to the booth by Mrs. Gaughan, a Smyrna rug from Joseph Hubbard, a beautiful scarf made and given by the little children of the Good Shepherd Convent, are particularly noticeable. The elegant brass bedstead donated by the W. B. Trumbo Company is one of the best donations to the fair. It is valued at $100. The very desirable leather chair presented by Tom Keenan, which will realize about $200, and three barrels of flour are also a substantial addition to this booth. St. Patrick's ladies are famous in the history of the diocese for their ready response to the appeals of charity.

IRELAND.

Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Culled From Exchanges.

The death took place suddenly on Monday, at Kingstown, of William Harris, assistant harbor master.

The criminal calendar placed before the Recorder of Cork at the opening of the borough sessions showed that Cork is practically a crimeless city.

On Friday John Dillon, M. P.; Jeremiah Jordan, M. P., and a number of gentlemen addressed a large public meeting held at Newtownbutler under the Chairmanship of the Very Rev. Canon O'Connor.

John Morrogh, ex-M. P., died at his residence, Douglas, near Cork, on Friday morning, after a rather long and painful illness. The deceased gentleman represented Southeast Cork in Parliament in the Nationalist interest from 1886 to 1893, in which year he resigned.

A herdsman named Commins was brought before Col. Evanson, at Clonmel, and charged with the willful murder of his wife on Sunday. Mr. Joy made a short deposition, stating that he believed the injuries from which the woman died were caused by the prisoner, and asked for a remand. The remand was granted.

At a meeting of the Tipperary Board of Guardians on Saturday, Chairman Fitzgerald presiding, a number of contracts were under consideration. After some discussion the following resolution was adopted: "That in future preference be given to members of the United Irish League or Irish Land and Labor Association when tenders are being considered for all contracts."

Intelligence has been received in Birr of the death in London, at the early age of twenty-six years, of Sister Carmel, daughter of John Madden, of Banagher. The deceased young lady was received at the Highgate Convent, London, eight years ago. She was born in Banagher and educated there at the Convent of La Sainte Union des Sacraes-coeurs, where her chaste course was a distinguished one.

The Parnell anniversary was observed at Cork by the customary procession through the streets of the city. All the local bands attended and the gathering, which embraced a large number of prominent Nationalists, was one of the finest and most impressive that has yet taken place. This was, of course, due to the fact that the anniversary has this year, for the first time, seen the blessed work of unity completed in the Nationalist ranks.

Henry Leahy, aged thirty-four years, a shop assistant in the establishment of Williams & Co., Clonliffe, suffered a sad and sudden death on the 5th inst. He returned home complaining of a pain in the chest, and after being ministered to by his wife stepped outside the door, where he was found dead. He was a sufferer from heart and lung disease. A sad feature of the case is that only a few months ago Mrs. Leahy lost her only child, and great sympathy is felt for her in Clonliffe.

On Friday a deputation from the old township districts of Drumcondra and Clontarf had an interview with the Chief Secretary in reference to the existing want of police and magisterial jurisdiction in those districts. The Chief Secretary said the remedy would be an order in council from the Lord Lieutenant extending the Dublin metropolitan police to these districts, which would carry the jurisdiction of the divisional city Magistrates with it, and that that would be done in a few weeks.

At the rent office at Ballyhaunis of the agent of Nolan Farrel, Logboy, the tenants met in large numbers last Saturday and demanded from agent Hazel the same terms as those enjoyed by the tenants who have purchased their holdings under the land act and from the Congested Districts Board, and said that unless they got these terms they would pay no rent. The agent said he was unable to make them a promise of such terms, and the tenants then left the office without paying the rent.

At the meeting of the Naas Board of Guardians, Vice Chairman Driver presiding, a letter was read from William Farrell, clerk of the union, resigning owing to ill-health. The board heard the letter read with deep regret, and passed a resolution recording their deep sense of the loss which the board and the public have sustained by being deprived through illness of the services of so painstaking, efficient and courteous an official. A committee was appointed to consider the question of the appointment of a successor.

On Saturday last the funeral took place in Cork of Patrick Byrne, a gentleman who was a rather prominent figure in the '67 movement. With the subsequent agitations for national self-government he was also actively identified and his unwavering loyalty to the national cause, as well as his many personal good qualities, secured for him the esteem and respect of the Nationalists of that city. The funeral was of exceptionally large proportions, testifying in a striking manner to the widespread regret which his demise had created.

A communication has been received by the Mayor of Waterford and the Committee of Management of the Free Library from Mr. Carnegie, making an offer under certain conditions of a large sum of money toward the cost of erecting a new public library for that city. Mr. Carnegie has undertaken that, if the present amount subscribed is increased by $200 annually, to insure the future financial stability of the free library, he is prepared to make a grant of $25,000 for the purpose of erecting a suitable building.

At Armagh on Thursday the lad J. T. Donlon was brought upon remand before R. H. Townsend, charged with seriously assaulting his father. The lad's father, who was examined, proved to the lad lifting a knife and stating he would do away with a dog which was in the kitchen. Witness endeavored to take the knife from him, and in the scuffle received a wound on the hand and one on the cheek, and one on the back of the ear. Witness said accused did not strike at him with the knife. The accused pleaded guilty, and was returned for trial to the quarter sessions.

At Dundalk quarter sessions, before County Court Judge Kisbey, among the applications for compensation for malicious injuries there came up one by the '98 Centenary Committee, who claimed $625 for the damage to the local monument, which was partially blown up some weeks ago by some person or persons unknown. Mr. Sheridan, who appeared for the applicants, asked for an adjournment, as he desired to have the damage inspected and valued by a sculptor. The postponement was agreed to on condition that costs be paid to the solicitor by the County Council, W. R. Rogers, who appeared to oppose the application.

A melancholy case of accidental death was inquired into at Burr on Friday by Coroner Corcoran and a jury. The victim was an aged ex-soldier named John Donnelly, who followed the occupation of bill-poster, and was a most industrious, steady man. He seems to have taken a short cut home, and passing round a deep quarry near the town slipped on the unprotected edge and fell in, dropping down a distance of fifteen feet, and receiving cuts from the stones below that inflicted fatal injuries. A verdict was found of accidental death, with a rider suggesting that a place so dangerous, and where children habitually play, should be protected. The accident occurred in daylight, and Donnelly was absolutely sober. He leaves a widow.

The reception which John Slattery received on Friday night when he appeared to address the Parnell anniversary meeting in Cork demonstrated the pleasure with which his return to active political life is hailed by the Nationalists of that city. For some years past he was in a very indifferent state of health and was obliged to retire altogether from the arena of public and political affairs. He has now, however, so far recovered as to be able to take that place in the struggle which his spirit and patriotism ever prompted him to occupy and his return to the ranks is a source of the deepest gratification to the Nationalists of Cork. Mr. Slattery is a gentleman who has suffered in pocket and liberty for having the courage of his convictions, and whatever little fighting has got to be done in the future it is safe to say that "Honest John" will be found in the thick of it.

RECENT DEATHS.

Edward Houlihan, one of the oldest and best known switchmen in the city, died Wednesday night at his home on Seventh street, death resulting from an attack of asthma. His funeral took place Friday morning from St. Louis Bertrand's church.

Last Sunday morning Bernard J. McBride, a well known and highly respected citizen, died at the residence of his son-in-law, T. J. Mulverhill. His funeral was largely attended at Holy Cross church Tuesday morning, the solemn requiem high mass being celebrated by Rev. Father Cunningham, who preached a feeling sermon upon the necessity of being prepared for the last summons and dwelling at some length upon the honorable career of the deceased.

Will Gagen, aged thirty-one years, a popular resident of the East End, died most unexpectedly Monday morning from heart failure at his home on Marshall street. He rose as usual and ate his breakfast, but was taken violently ill shortly after and died in a few minutes. His many friends were shocked when they heard the sad news. He was a brother of Matt Gagen, of Shelby and Main. His funeral took place from St. John's church Wednesday morning, when requiem high mass was sung for the repose of his soul.

LOFTY IDEALS.

The grandest and most inspiring thought with which we come in contact in the study of the life of Christ is the lofty ideals he constantly holds before us. In our quest for good we are to seek a kingdom, even the kingdom of God. All the lower, baser elements of our nature are to be brought under the dominating, transforming power of love. The standard or model of perfection held out before us is even the "Father in heaven." Motives of the highest, noblest character are brought to bear on us to incite to holy living. No person can strive to realize such ideals without expecting a divine uplift, that results in being blessed with all spiritual blessings in the heavens in Christ.

The skirts of the autumn outing gowns are decidedly shorter. There is one style that just clears the ground, but flares so much that it looks much longer than it is. By rights all skirts of this style of gown should flare, for the object of the costume is to have it for hard wear in all sorts of weather, and yet to look well.

Rome and St. Michael's are much frequented, owing to the especial popularity of their respective pastors, Fathers Dan O'Sullivan, Thomas White and John Sheridan, as well as that of the really charming ladies presiding therein. Here the visitor will find a nickel-plated stove from Kirchdorfer, a suit of clothes from Loevenhart's, dressing table from James Green, handsome pictures, engravings, down comforts, air-tight stoves and vases of every style of art.

The churches of Our Lady and St. Cecilia have some elegant paintings, one of them, "Early Winter," presented by Miss Lulu Milligan, and a highly prized steel engraving by Mrs. Dan Murphy. A statue of St. Anthony from Miss Mamie West, a silver vase from Miss Carrie West, an elegant silver set from the Sisters of Nazareth, a stove from John Reckenwald, and a fine point lace handkerchief, the gift of Miss Belle Curran, adorn this booth, which displays also many other dainty and handsome articles. Terrstege & Gohman, of New Albany, are represented by a nickel-plated stove. The point lace surplice, made and given to Rev. Father Coniff by the Sisters of Cedar Grove, which is of great value, is also exhibited here.

Mrs. Ben Schlater, Mrs. Kibby and Miss Agnes Dempsey have charge of this booth and are painstaking and diligent toward making it attractive and lucrative.

The booth nearest the stage is that of the Sacred Heart, St. Agnes and St. George's. Its beauty and brilliancy, with its many electric lights, make it a stopping place for all making the circuit, who find it impossible to resist investing in the pretty and valuable wares accumulated by Mrs. Marcus Doerhoefer, Mrs. Andy Kast, Mrs. Tom Tarpey and other charming salesladies. An exquisite relief bronze, representing "Morning," made and given by Manager Barrett, of the Peerless Company; a solid silver set, one of the most valuable prizes of the bazar, donated by John Malone, of the Fidelity Trust Company; handsome gravures, vases and toilet articles, have been placed here by the untiring efforts of the lady managers and the generosity of merchants and friends of the orphans.

St. Charles, St. William's and Holy Cross churches are an especial feature in the hall, owing to the beautiful and singular line of articles to be seen. An exquisitely wrought linen table cover, made by a Spanish lady in Mexico, much prized for the singular manner in which the work is executed, and two pillows in soft fawn leather made and painted by Mexican Indians, attract the eye of lovers of the artistic. Also there is a slumber robe, made by these same Indians. All these gifts are from generous James Hackett, of the Greenbrier Distillery Company. A very beautiful silk quilt, made and donated by Mrs. Joseph Bohe, and a real Irish broom by Mrs. Kate Fitzgerald, are among the souvenirs of this booth. Miss Emily Jutt, the milliner, donated a stylish hat; M. J. Duffy a fine writing desk, and Mrs. Jeff Hannon an urn and pedestal. The ladies of this booth have succeeded in collecting not only a handsome lot of donations, but in building up an enviable reputation for kindness and affability, and patrons of the fair will find it to add to their pleasure to seek this booth and take chances on the beautiful prizes offered by the affable Miss Maggie Gorman, Mrs. Sid Raffo, Mrs. Mrs. Paul Barth, Mrs. B. Cunningham and others who are equally as kind.

Contributions of money have been made by Col. Mike Muldoon and other well known citizens of the city who have been willing to aid the bazar in every manner possible. Among other valuable articles are gifts from the generous McIlhenny ladies; several dolls dressed and contributed by little Nellie McIlhenny; fashionably dressed bridal dolls and exquisite pillows from Rickerman and the Louisville Pillow Company, as well as others from Miss Anna Ford, Miss Mary Toomey of the New York Store and the venerable Mrs. R. Shanley of Bardstown.

Other donors deserving mention are Mrs. Capt. Donohoe, who contributed a barrel of flour; Mrs. Alexander, Cherokee Park, baby outfit; Miss Elizabeth Healy, rare vase; George Cross, fine umbrella; Miss Minnie Lauer, embroidered pillow; Mrs. McCullough, table scarf; Dow Wire Works, original and durable lawn sofa, first of its pattern ever made here. A miniature of real merit, representing the Saviour, painted by Mrs. John L. Jackson, 1542 Brook street, is a little gem and deserves special recognition, and Mrs. Jackson has nothing to fear from its inspection by connoisseurs, to whom Miss Mary Goss will be pleased to show it.

Some very fine bronze busts are on the different tables, the names of whose donors were not obtainable when this was written.

SHORT AND BRIEF.

The Archbishops of the United States will hold their regular annual meeting at the Washington University on November 13 and 14.

According to the estimates received at the Department of Agriculture, the wheat crop of the world for 1901 is larger than it has been for two years.

Rev. David Fleming, who has been chosen as Superior General of the Franciscans, is the first Irishman who ever held that exalted position.

Andrew Carnegie has offered the city of Waterford $25,000 with which to build a free library. He may also do something for Dublin, Limerick and Cork.

According to the Herald Sir Thomas Lipton has determined to sell the Shamrock II. and she is now on the American market. The price fixed is not known.

America, the freest nation, has made the fastest battle-ship in the world for Russia, the most despotic nation. There is neither politics nor sentiment in business.

Among the 109,000 Boer refugees held by the British it would be easy to find many who do not believe that killing and being killed are the very worst things in war.

Three Territories are going to knock at the door of Congress next winter for admission as States—Arizona, New Mexico and Oklahoma. This is in the line of our natural expansion.

The negro population of this country has doubled since slavery was abolished. And the wealth of the negroes in the Southern States is put down by high Southern authority at not less than $400,000,000.

The prohibitionists gained over 200 votes in the recent Indianapolis election, and at this rate of increase they will have a fair chance to elect a Mayor of that city 116 years hence. Something must be done to check the growth of that party.

The entire Atlantic coast will soon be equipped with wireless telegraphic stations. In the near future ships in distress may flash their appeal for help over miles of sea and the fate of those on the ocean will be as readily learned as that of land travelers.

If Miss Stone happened to be a Catholic Sister of Charity instead of a Protestant missionary would the American people make such a pow-wow over her capture by Bulgarian or Turkish bandits? Would they be so anxious to pay a ransom of $110,000 for her release? asks the Minneapolis Irish Standard. We guess not.

HIBERNIANS. KENWOOD PARK.

What They Have Been Doing the Past Week—General News Notes.

A new division will be instituted tomorrow at Somerville, Mass.

Division 4 has received the application of Henry T. Smith and Michael J. King. John Martin will arrive here next week from Missouri, about entirely restored to health.

Paul Schuell and William Lydon were elected members of Division 4 Wednesday night.

Division 1 had a very small meeting Tuesday night, the members nearly all attending the bazar.

Entertainments of many kinds will be given by divisions everywhere throughout the country on Thanksgiving eve.

Nothing has so alarmed the members of the order for many a day as the news of the illness of popular Tom Lynch of Division 4.

Division 23 of Brookline, Mass., observed its first anniversary Thursday night with a very successful entertainment, dance and banquet in Lyceum Hall.

Jerry Hallahan has been sent to Lexington by the Tennis Construction Company to superintend the building of an electric road from that city to Georgetown.

The Catholics of Middletown, O., in making their concluding jubilee visit last Sunday week were accompanied by Archbishop Elder, who was preceded by the Hibernians wearing their regalia.

Division 1 postponed its social session till Tuesday, November 26, for the reason that many of its members are engaged in promoting the success of the bazar at Liederkrantz Hall for the orphans.

Division 4 will give its members a big "blow-out" at the next meeting. John Grogan, Dave Reilly and Tom Langan, who have the affair in charge, know well how to arrange for a pleasant evening.

Dave Reilly, the sweet singer of Division 4, is receiving the congratulations of his friends on account of the arrival of a little girl stranger at his home last Tuesday night. Both mother and child are doing well.

Division 5 of San Francisco has prepared an attractive programme for its complimentary entertainment and social, which will be held in Union Square Hall Thursday evening, October 31. A feature of the evening will be a selection of Irish airs on the piano by Miss Nellie Farrell, a talented and accomplished pianist.

A district meeting by the Ancient Order of Hibernians will take place at Springfield, O., tomorrow. The gathering will be one of importance. It is asserted that there will be at least seventy candidates initiated on that occasion and at least 1,000 members from Columbus, Dayton, Bellefontaine, Urbana and other cities will be present.

Division 1 of Jeffersonville announces its fourteenth annual ball at Spiehl's Opera House on Thursday evening, November 21. None of the Louisville divisions meet that night, therefore they should be well represented. The gentlemen composing the committee of arrangements have had experience and are well known, the most prominent being Louis Constantine, Con O'Neil, Frank Lynch, Dan McCarthy and John Devitt.

For the purpose of hearing and taking action on the report of the committee on insurance chosen at the last convention, held in Boston, to consider the advisability of adopting the graded system of assessing instead of the present level system, and also the request of the ladies' auxiliaries asking that members of that organization be granted permission to join the widows' and orphans' fund and to take some action toward establishing a reserve fund, a special convention was held Wednesday at Brockton, Mass.

APPRECIATION.

Sustained interest and happiness in this life depend largely upon appreciation of the many good and desirable things, the rich and satisfying blessings, that come to one each day and month and season and year. Restless, unsatisfied and complaining persons are those who are indifferent to the blessings they have and are constantly wishing for something they have not and for the most part probably never will have. Patient, contented, happy persons are those who recognize the worth of that which each day brings and are thankful for it. While they have plans that reach into the future, they live in the present and try to get from every day something of true enjoyment, something that strengthens belief that this life is worth the living many times over. They look straight at the realities of life and shape their course accordingly; live in real condition, estimated at their true value and not in imaginary circumstances of fictitious or uncertain value.

POSTPONED.

Catholic Union Will Not Hold a Meeting Until Tomorrow Week.

President McDermott and Secretary Cooney have postponed the next meeting of the Catholic Union from Monday, October 28, to Sunday evening, November 3, at 7:30 o'clock, and notice thereof has been sent to all delegates and societies. They took this action upon the recommendation of numbers of prominent members and Catholics who are interested in the bazar now in progress for the benefit of the orphans, and their course meets with hearty approval.

This meeting will be perhaps the most important held since the formation of the union, and every delegate owes it to himself and the society he represents to be present. The election of officers and delegates to the Federation of Catholic Societies at Cincinnati on December 10 will take place, and therefore Satelli Hall should be crowded. A general invitation is extended all Catholics to be present and witness the proceedings. To the delegates we might say that much of the future success of the union depends upon them at this time, and they are therefore urged not to be delinquent.

DOING WELL.

All those injured in the senseless panic that occurred Tuesday afternoon at the Temple Theater are doing nicely, none being seriously injured. The scare was occasioned by the cry of fire by some foolish negro in the balcony, and Col. Meffert is in no way responsible. It is a well known fact that the safety of the patrons of this house are carefully guarded, and if people would remain calm and collected the entire house could be emptied in a few moments if necessary.

DUHALLOW MOURNS.

The famous barony of Duhallow mourns the death of a good and patriotic priest in the person of the Rev. Daniel O'Keefe, of Meelin. The men of Duhallow, by virtue of the gallant fight they made against landlordism and land-grabbing during the eighties, won the admiration of all Irishmen the world over, and the unswerving loyalty of the priests of the district to their flock, their readiness to share their persecutions as well as their triumphs, formed a feature in the great struggle that should stand for all time an example to the priesthood of Ireland, and act the part of the guide to them should they be ever called upon to defend their people in a similar crisis. In no part of Ireland did the battle wage more fiercely nor were more sacrifices made. Men were tried by the score by the farcical tribunals constituted under the coercion act of that period, and sentenced to long terms of imprisonment, and on more than one occasion, did the priests share their fate. We may recall one example in the Rev. M. B. Kennedy, who at three different periods received severe terms for taking his stand by his oppressed flock. And if the Rev. Daniel O'Keefe, of Meelin, whom all Duhallow lamented, did not too suffer the tortures of prison life it was not through any hesitancy on his part to fight by the side of his people. He was a good and kindly sogaard, a true and fearless Irishman, ever ready to throw himself into the fray regardless of consequences, and by his death both faith and fatherland have lost as staunch a friend as ever drew the breath of life.

THEATRICALS.

A good many years ago an actor out in San Francisco made an adaptation of one of the best of Bret Harte's stories "M'Liss." At the time of its presentation it met with instant favor and developed into one of the greatest successes that our stage has ever known. This sterling play will be seen at the Avenue next week. The company is headed by Nellie McHenry, who plays the title role, and is said to be made up of the best players possible to obtain.

The biggest production of the season is contemplated for next week at the Temple Theater, the offering to be none other than John Arthur Fraser's dramatization of "Robespierre." It is confidently expected that the house will be packed all week to see this famous play dealing with the reign of terror and the French revolution. Nothing will be left undone to insure a complete performance in every detail. Seats for the week are now on sale. The vaudeville will be furnished by H. Wood, monologist, the Gilbert Sisters and Miriam Ainsworth. "Robespierre" will prove among the very best plays ever seen at this popular house, and Col. Meffert's endeavor to furnish our citizens with the best American stage affords should be appreciated by packed houses at every performance.

Laughter is the principal product of Flynn's Big Sensation Company, which is underlined for next week at the Buckingham, and it is that mirth which flows freely and leaves no dark brown taste after the indulgence. It is first produced when the curtain rises on the merry prologue, "Mrs. Grogan's Pink Tea," in which appear the principal comedians of the company, assisted by a corps of singers and dancers and a chorus of pretty and clever girls. Dave Conway and Harry Keeler are the leading comedy spirits of this skit and they manage to cause laughter with every line. The farce bounds in novel and ludicrous situations, all of which are taken advantage of and there is not a dull moment throughout the action of the piece. The performance is brought to a close with a spectacular barbersque, "King of the Boo Gee Boos," which is given a gorgeous stage setting and beautifully costumed. Here is introduced the full strength of the company in a delightful mixture of mirth and music.

White net dotted all over with tiny jet spots and with a border of black lace applied on the white ground and heavily encrusted with jet is among the most exquisite of the new robe materials.

ACQUIRES PROPERTY.

Another Block Passes Into Hands of the Big Four.

The most important deal in local railroad circles for some time past was quietly consummated within the past few days and is now made public for the first time. The Kentucky Irish American learns upon good authority that the Big Four Railroad Company has succeeded in the purchase of all the property on the east side of Main street, between Floyd and Preston, including the large plant of the Vogt Machine Company. The negotiations have been going on for some time, and now that the deal has been closed the Big Four will doubtless soon commence the erection of new buildings that will greatly facilitate its immense business here.

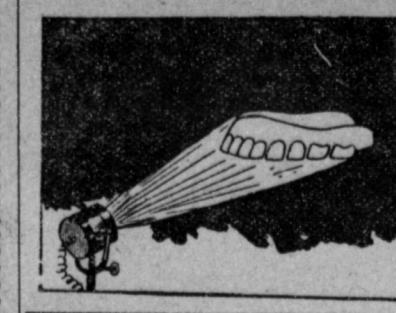

It is also stated that the Vogt Machine Company has purchased about thirteen acres in the vicinity of Seventh and Magnolia, where large shops will be located, work upon which may soon begin. The Vogt establishment is one of the largest in Louisville, and the southern portion of the city will be greatly benefited by its removal thereto, as large numbers of men are employed.

NEWMAN ON IRELAND.

The late Cardinal Newman uttered the following prophetic words about the future of Ireland:

"I contemplate a people which has had a long night and will have an inevitable day. I am turning my eyes toward a hundred years to come and I dimly see the island I am gazing on become the road of passage and union between two hemispheres and the center of the world. I see its inhabitants rival Belgium in populousness, France in vigor and Spain in enthusiasm, and I see England taught by advancing years to exercise in its behalf that good sense which is her characteristic toward every one else. The capital of that prosperous and hopeful land is situated in a beautiful bay and near a romantic region, and in it I see a flourishing university, which for awhile had to struggle with fortune, but which, when its first founders were dead and gone, had successes far exceeding their anxieties. Thither, as to a sacred soil, the home of their fathers and the fountain head of their Christianity, students are flocking from east, west and south, from America, and Australia, and India, from Egypt and Asia Minor, and last from England—all speaking the one tongue, all owning the one faith, all eager for true wisdom, and hence, when their stay is over, going back again to carry peace to men and good will all over the earth."

Many plain French backs are seen in the fall shirt waists, but the summer's experiment with them was not altogether a success. They did not fit so well as the pleated backs, nor stay down so well, and this fall pleated or trimmed backs seem to be the rule.
